The Difference Is In The Details

"We had a very good experience with The Cedar Roof Company. The workers were professional. They worked hard and did a magnificent job. Attention was paid to every detail and it shows."

– Barbara Heidelberger, Villanova, PA

The Cedar Roof Company is dedicated to servicing our clientele who own older roofs that still have years of useful life. Not all sections of a cedar roof weather at the same rate. There are many contributing factors including: length, thickness and exposure of the shake or shingle installed. A home's lot position in regard to the presence of trees and UV exposure, as well as roof pitch, determine wear. All of these conditions dictate the available options. Every cedar roof, like every home, is unique and should be evaluated as such.

"A wood roof is like a puzzle, created by the precise fit of every piece of wood. Beyond the aesthetic beauty, our job is to protect your home. We need to keep moisture out of the house with the proper installation of wood and flashing materials."

– Mike Malone, The CRC Installation Manager

Protecting your home with a distinctive wood roof is an investment you will appreciate for many years to come. This is especially true if you choose a roofing company with the expertise and commitment to help you gain the greatest return on your investment over the long term.

The Distinction Is Striking

Nothing Compares To The Natural Beauty And Charm Of A Cedar Roof

PERFECTION SHINGLES

This shingle is most common to northeastern New York and the New England States. Like the Royal Shingle, it creates a smooth, sleek finished appearance.

ROYAL SHINGLES

Sawn on both sides, this shingle has a smooth finished appearance. This traditional and tight roof is a popular choice of Chester County, Pennsylvania.

TAPERSAWN SHAKES

Tapersawn Shakes are a hybrid of shingles and Handsplit Shakes. Like a shingle, both faces are sawn, as are the edges, giving the Tapersawn a smooth yet bold appearance.

HANDSPLIT SHAKES

Handsplit Shakes create an inviting, rustic appearance with a unique charm. This dimensional look adds character to all architectural designs.

The Waldun Group

The Cedar Roof Company has chosen The Waldun Group because they maintain the most stringent quality-control standards in the industry.

Waldun begins with high-quality western red cedar trees harvested on Vancouver Island. It purchases only mature, straight trees for its premium shakes and shingles. Each log is sorted for various product requirements before even entering the mill, then again when it is split to reveal its grain and determine if it will be a hand split or sawn product. Skilled workmen then trim and sort each piece to the appropriate thickness and grade.

Not All Wood Is Created Equal

"As second-generation owner of my family's cedar mill, it is without hesitation that I recommend The Cedar Roof Company. They have earned a reputation as one of the premier wood roof companies in the United States today. Like Waldun, The Cedar Roof Company goes above and beyond industry standards to offer the highest quality possible. Its installation guidelines and continued service programs are unparalleled, while both Brian and Mike are passionate advocates of cedar, who enjoy educating others on its benefits."

- Curtis Walker

Waldun's premium grade shakes offer 100% edge grain, which prevents warping and splitting as the wood dries. No. 1 shingles such as Royals and Perfections are also 100% edge grain. Waldun separates the grain of its shakes and shingles and actually counts the number of pieces that go into each bundle to ensure what you pay for is what you get. The mill schedules three quality-control employees to supervise each of its shifts and uses the strictest third-party grading agency available to certify that its products meet the requirements of Cedar Shake and Shingle Bureau endorsement. Every Waldun product is 100% guaranteed to be on grade or better.

The Cedar Roof Company's Transferable No-Leak Warranty guarantees the roof installation to be free from leaks. Should a leak occur, it covers the cost to repair any resulting interior damage. This Transferable No-Leak Warranty is in addition to Waldun's own warranty, which is backed by the Cedar Shake and Shingle Bureau, whereby it will supply replacements or a refund for any defective shakes or shingles that cause a leak. This assurance is only available to homeowners who have chosen products from a CSSB approved mill, such as Waldun and installation performed by a CSSB approved company, such as The Cedar Roof Company.

The relationship between The Cedar Roof Company and Waldun is reinforced by a close partnership with its suppliers who import and distribute the cedar shakes and shingles in the United States after they are harvested and milled in British Columbia. When correctly harvested and milled, cedar shakes and shingles are not only beautiful but also durable, long lived, energy efficient and environmentally friendly. By combining the highest quality materials and proper installation with the recommended care and maintenance you can be assured your wood roof will provide long-lasting beauty and protection to your home for years to come.

Since 1993, The Cedar Roof Company and our treatment process designed for wood roofs has proven to save our customers in both expensive repair and premature roof replacement. Homeowners who choose to preserve their roof keep their roof. Allow your new cedar roof to weather a minimum of 12-18 months before the first treatment is applied and ADD FIVE-YEARS TO YOUR CRC NO-LEAK WARRANTY. The sooner preservation begins in the life of your roof the longer you can expect it to last. The Preservation coating comes in three natural cedar selections including a timeless Weathered Gray, a classic Shade of Nantucket Gray and a Cedartone that enhances the look of "new" cedar.

Preserve & Protect

Enviroshake® Quality Engineered Roofing

The Cedar Roof Company also offers Enviroshake®, an advanced composite material that replicates the look of natural cedar shakes and shingles, offering extended performance and dependability without the maintenance.

So durable it comes with a Fifty Year Fully Transferable Non Prorated Lifetime Warranty.

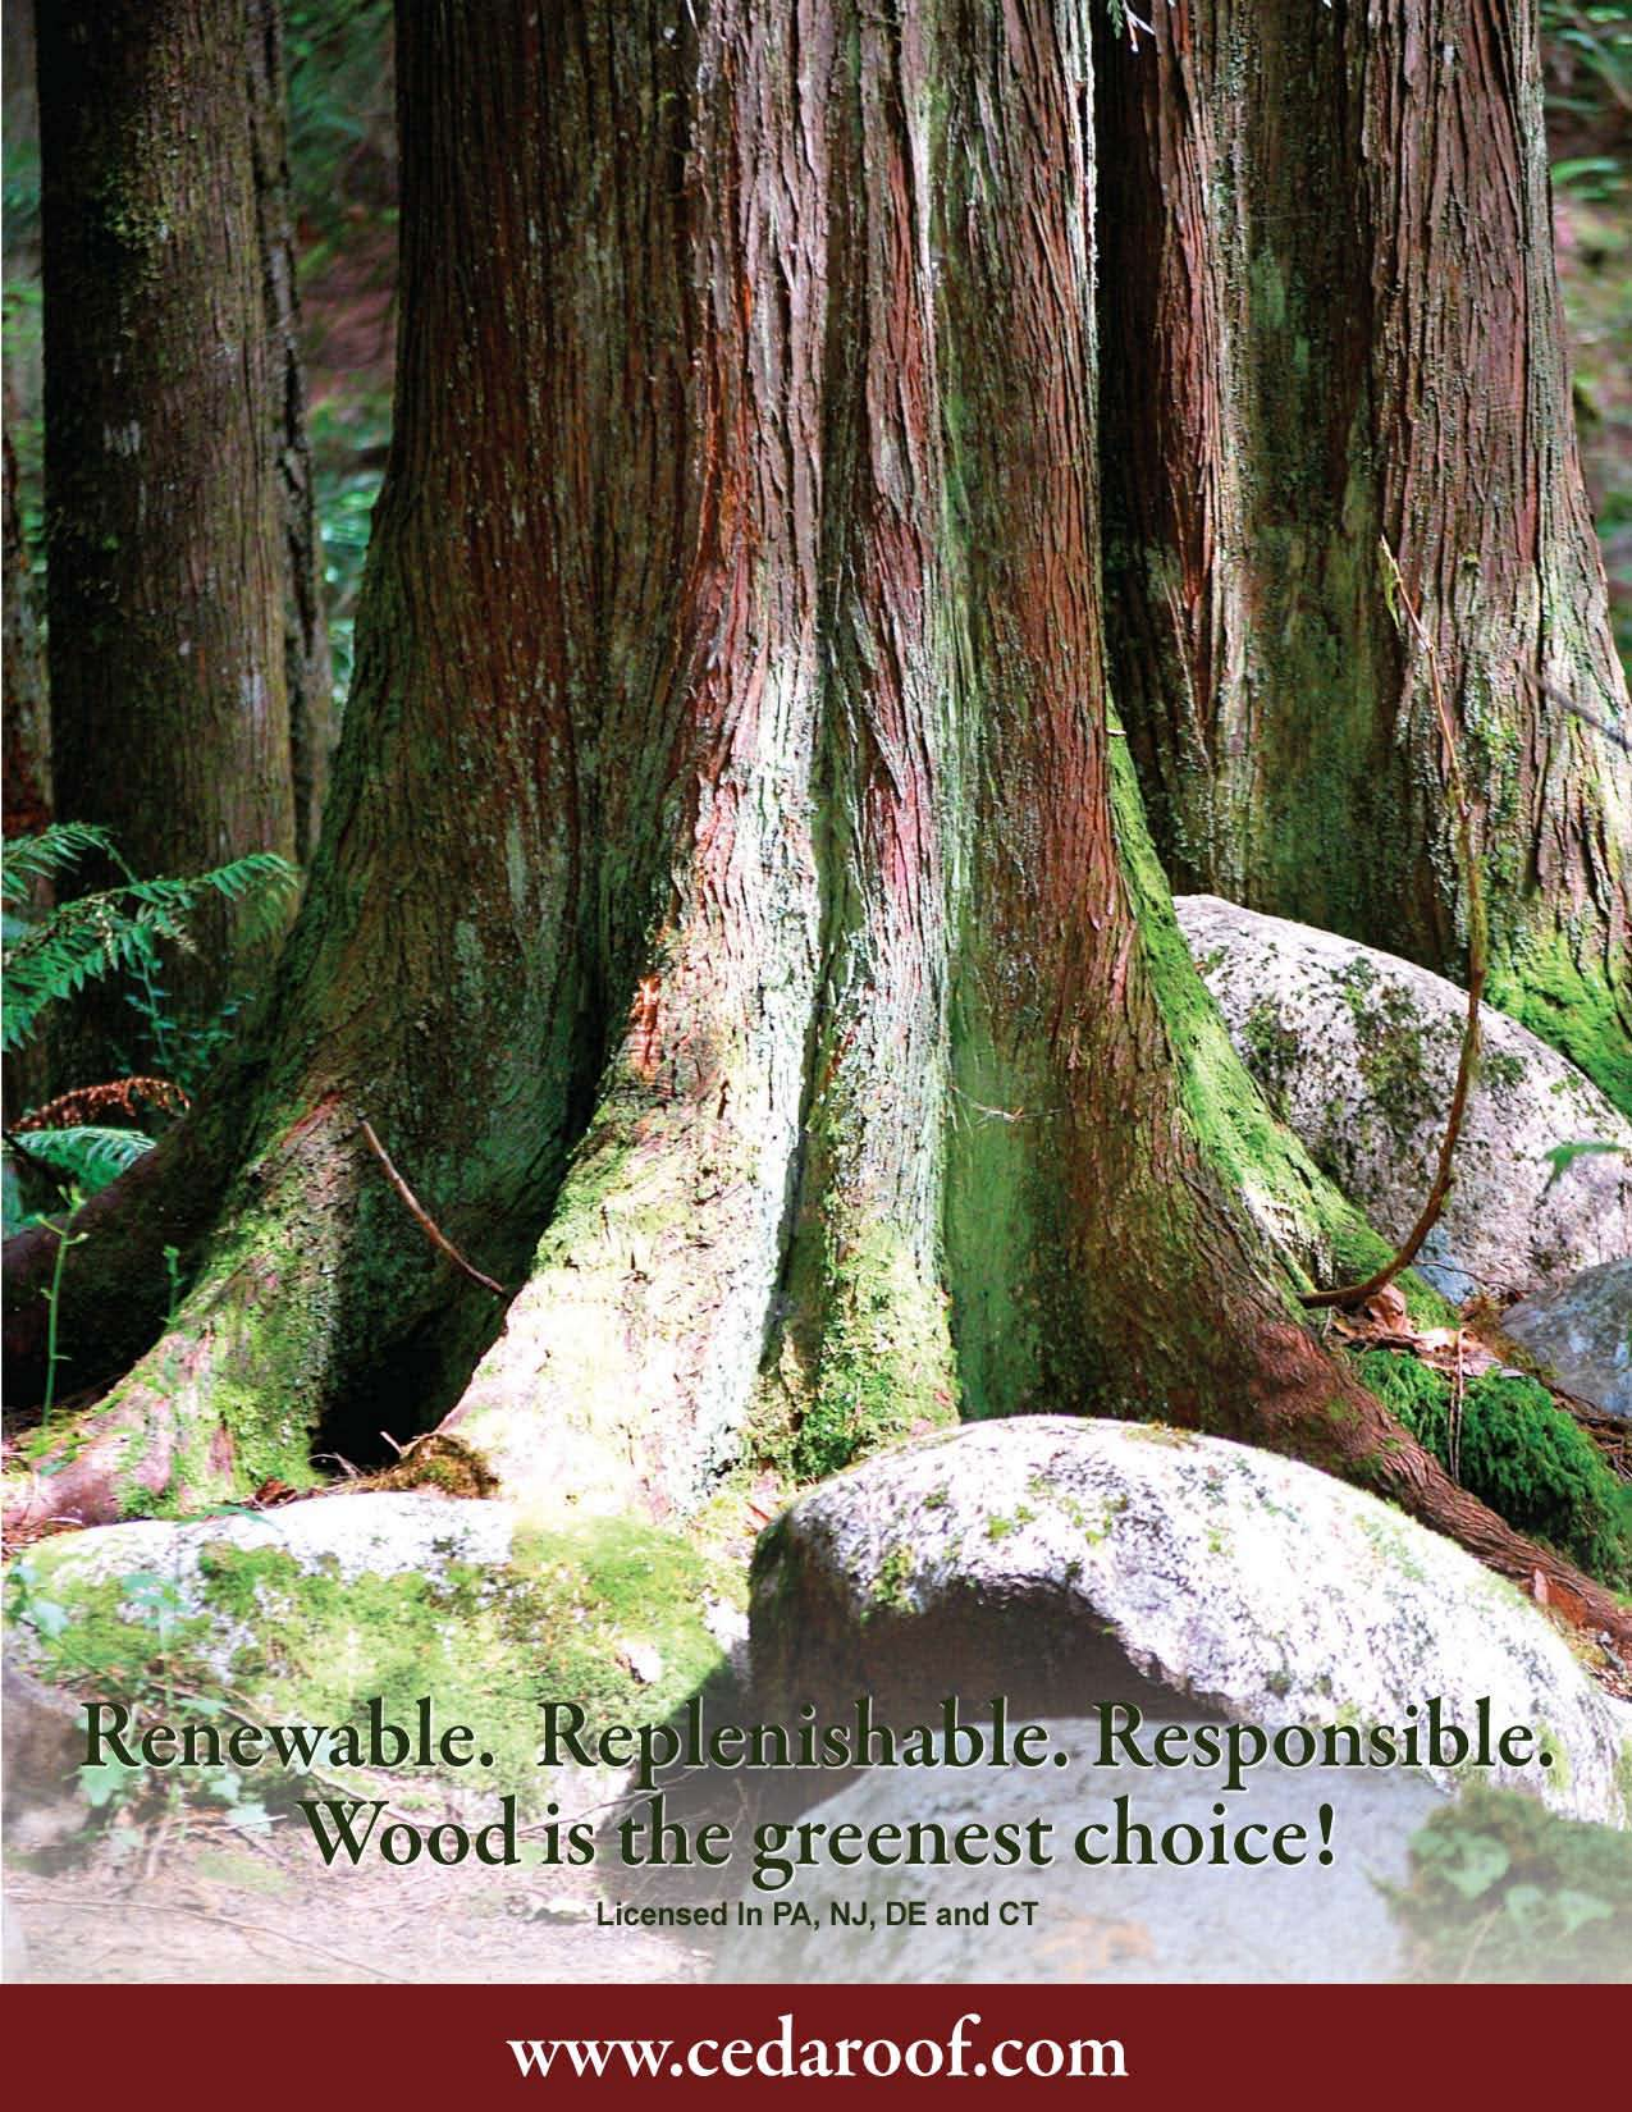

We are still offering the Classic Silvered cedar color, along with the addition of a Dark Aged cedar color and a Multi-Tone option that combines both silvered and aged colors.
